Divas dish up family recipes to benefit Homestead

Did you know a woman's beauty aid was the inspiration behind Joseph Glidden's barbed wire? What better way to acknowledge the feminine contribution to DeKalb's famous 19th Century invention than with "Divas Dish Grandma's Secret Recipes," a fund-raising and taste-testing event sponsored by The Joseph F. Glidden Homestead and Historical Center.

As many as 40 women from DeKalb County and beyond will be dishing up tried and true family recipes Saturday, April 25, 6-9 p.m., at NIU's Barsema Alumni and Visitors Center, DeKalb.

But let's step back a minute to the winter of 1872-73, when Joseph's wife, Lucinda, realized that her large wire hairpins were disappearing from a milk glass on her dresser. At first she thought her 20-year-old daughter, Elva, was taking them, but that was not the case. The mystery was soon solved, though, when one evening after supper she noticed Joseph reach into his shirt pocket and take out two of her missing hairpins. When she asked what he was doing with them, he replied he was working on an idea for a fence.

The Joseph F. Glidden Homestead and Historical Center is working to preserve the home and barn and to purchase property adjacent to the home, to provide a Welcome/Education Center.

"Our board had been searching for a fund-raising event that would expand awareness about the Homestead to a more diverse segment of the community, and I think we found that in Divas Dish," said Kathy Siebrasse, Homestead Board president.

Among the Divas serving up their delicious concoctions will be DeKalb restaurateur, Mary Wilson. Mary and her husband, Gavin, have owned The Hillside Restaurant & Catering for more than 20 years, with Mary doing most of the recipe planning and menus.

For the April 25 event, she plans to present tasty samples of a Italian meal featuring her secret sauce made with fresh herbs served with veal or chicken, gluten-free pasta, and marinated broiled vegetables. She also plans to add an Italian dessert.

Mary said her interest in doing a gluten-free meal stems from having more and more women at the restaurant asking for gluten-free dishes. "If I can find just the right kind of gluten free flour, I may even make a chocolate cake," she said.

Another Diva will be Janet Glidden, who will be traveling from the Kankakee area to participate. She plans to dish up her favorite sweet yeast bread made with home-ground whole wheat flour. "It's very similar to a Houska twist bread my mother made with almonds and raisins. I vary it a little with pecans and other fruit," she said. Janet's husband, Richard Glidden, is Joseph's great grand nephew.

Other dishes promised so far include Lindsey Engelsman's Italian beef and Jennifer Groce's German kuchen cake, one filled with fresh plums and another with apples. The recipe is from her mother-in-law who moved to the U.S. from Germany as a teenager. Jennifer is executive director of Re:New DeKalb and Lindsey is marketing and special events coordinator.

Tickets for the event are $30 in advance or $40 at the door. To order tickets, email: Lindsey@renewdekalb.com or call (815) 748-7788 or the Homestead, (815) 756-7904.

A Message from the President: Kathy Vance Siebrasse

The coming year will see new goals and plans, as our dedicated Board and active membership base continue to fulfill the plans developed in the past.

It has been a pleasure to serve as your President in 2008. Positive steps in restoration and preservation at the Homestead have continued while we have expanded our public outreach.

Our Board members and Committee members continue to give many hours of their talented time to our projects. We are thankful for their dedication.

Fund-raising efforts

We continue our ambitious $2 million fund-raising program, under the direction of Past President Jim Morel and President Kathy Vance Siebrasse, with the help of Board members and the community at-large. The first objective of the program is the purchase of the adjacent property which presently houses the Glidden Florist business owned and operated by the Hansen family. Glidden Florist will continue to operate under its current lease which continues until 2010. The Homestead can exercise its option to purchase through Jan. 1, 2010. Raising the money for this purchase is our most important priority at this time. The public's involvement in our fund-raising activities is vital and is invited.

The acquisition of this property will present the Homestead as a unified cultural destination in the community. It will provide the Homestead with a strong public, presence complete with a Welcome Center and expanded parking.

Gifts and Grants

In addition to memberships and special donations received during 2008, we received a $16,000 grant from the Illinois Department of Tourism. The grant will go a long way toward helping the Homestead create a working Blacksmith Shop in the former Mill House on the property. DeKalb's Tegrant-Alloyd Brands Corporation donated $500 to support the capital campaign and restoration efforts at the Homestead.

Exterior

There were a variety of ambitious workdays this year, with the help of many community volunteers who accomplished maintenance projects. Major storms in 2008 cost the Homestead 3 trees in the front yard. The roof also was repaired following major storm damage in June.

Interior

Work has continued to restore many areas of the Glidden house interior, with an emphasis on furnishings in the East and West parlors. In the fall, a college student served his internship at the Homestead, helping expand and update educational displays.

Gift Shop

The Gift Shop continues to expand its offerings and grow in popularity. Items are displayed in a special case at the Glidden Homestead. Our website features a Gift Shop link and has helped increase sales. Coordinated by Board members Jeff Marshall and Kathy Vance Siebrasse, the Gift Shop has continued to expand its selection of one-of-a-kind items featuring the Glidden Homestead and barbed wire.

This patch is available for $4 in the Glidden Gift Shop.

Public Exposure & Programming

Popular musical programming this year dramatically increased the number of visitors to the Homestead. "Music on the Porch" was featured the third Sunday each month. The Homestead continued to be open to the public on the first and third Sundays, noon-4 p.m., May-November. Coordinated by board vice president, Gayle Wuori, "Music on the Porch" featured a variety of community groups displaying their musical talents.

We are members of the Historic Homes Coalition, an organization that promotes tourism to house museums in Illinois. We are linked to HHI's website, featuring driving tours throughout the state and much more information. Our regular member newsletter, The Winner, continued to expand the variety of articles and photos featured in 2008. An electronic version is available via e-mail for members who request it. In addition, back issues of The Winner are now available to print off our website:

The Homestead continues to participate with other museums of DeKalb County in a joint program entitled "Passport to Adventure." This program provides incentives to elementary children to learn about their local history. The Glidden Homestead hosted two "Passport" tour days in 2008, coordinated by Sarah Glidden DeMink, who created a Scavenger Hunt for children and their parents. They looked for informational clues throughout their visits, and enjoyed making old-time crafts and playing old-time games.

Jen Jencks Conley performed songs popular in the 1860s-1870s, as part of the Homestead's Annual Meeting in January, 2009.

Other programming included our traditional Open House-Open Barn, in May. The Homestead hosted a fund-raising event in October to premiere Jim Barker's DVD "Historic Homes of DeKalb County." The event was held at Sycamore State Street Theatre, which generously donated use of the facility. The evening included hors d'oeuvres and a wine tasting prior to the movie. It raised about $1,300 for the Homestead.

Jennie Marshall Cummings worked with members of the DHS Key Club on a successful membership drive by phone.

Membership

Under the leadership of Membership Committee chair, Jennie Marshall Cummings, our paid membership reached its highest level in nearly five years, at 198. In the Spring, Cummings worked several evenings with members of the DeKalb High School Key Club on a successful phone membership drive. Memberships include a combination of single, family, student and "Heritage" classifications. In addition, a new membership level was added this year—Genealogical—which entitles members to a 2-volume Glidden Genealogy set as part of their $175 donation.

Open House-Open Barn May 17

The Joseph F. Glidden Homestead and Historical Center's Spring Open House-Open Barn is Sunday, May 17, noon-4 p.m. It gives visitors their one chance all year to see the inside of the historic barn where barbed wire was invented and first manufactured. The large brick structure is located on the Homestead property, behind Burger King and next to Glidden Florist, on West Lincoln Highway, DeKalb.

Open House-Open Barn also will feature musical entertainment on the porch from 1:30-2:30 p.m. Other events and displays will be featured, while tours of the house and grounds will be offered. The Gift Shop will be open that day.

Roger Keys is a historic preservationist who has done much work on the barn and home at the Homestead. He will be on hand during Open House-Open Barn to describe the barn and its historical significance. Everyone is welcome to attend.
